QUESTION OF: PROMOTING THE PRODUCTION OF RAW MATERIALS FOR DIVERSIFICATION OF RAW MATERIALS TOWARDS EMERGING ECONOMIES

The General Assembly,

Deeply concerned by the fact that poor economic conditions, political instability and social impacts are a consequence of a lack of resources of under-developed countries,

Emphasizing on the fact that developing countries are constantly facing unpredictable sudden fall in international prices of primary exported commodities that in turn leads to unstable and fluctuating earnings from exports as well as a negative balance of payment,

Recognizing that some developing countries are endowed with a rather low degree of human capital that has negative consequences on the country’s future growth path,

Bearing in mind that there can be economic risks including, in the short term, instability in foreign exchange earning which have adverse macroeconomics effects on growth, unemployment, investment, planning, import and export capacity, inflation and foreign exchange cash flow,

Grieved there are drops in sectors adversely affecting the production of raw materials

1. Emphasizes that countries further increase trading opportunities and reduce barriers to trade amongst nations and at making the trading system more development friendly;

2. Encourages Non-Governmental Organisations and government agents to educate unskilled labour in the required field;
