QUESTION OF: ENSURING THE IMPLEMENTATION OF RESPONSE PLANS TO SUPPORT REFUGEES AND HOST COUNTRIES AFFECTED BY DISPLACEMENT

The General Assembly,

Grieved by the fact that there is still cultural clash among residents and refugees despite the effort being put forward by the UNHCR to support refugees,

Noting with regret that hundreds of thousands of refugees remain without any documentation of temporary stay, and therefore lack guaranteed access to basic rights which makes them particularly vulnerable to labour and sexual exploitation, trafficking, violence, discrimination and xenophobia,

Expressing deep concern in cases of social problems pertaining to refugees such as theft, rapes or illegal activities such as drug dealing as they experience poor living conditions,

Stressing the lack of quality data causing a knowledge gap and lack of standardization of data analysis leading to several problems such as the Global Fund not appropriately used for better assistance,

Convinced that available technology is not used to tackle the influx of mass refugees,

1. Demands the strengthening of access to territory, asylum systems, regularization processes, and documentation, through quality assurance initiatives and the implementation of fair and efficient migration policies, while also promoting the safeguards in line with international standards;

2. Directs that donors should provide sustainable and predictable funding in situations of protracted displacement, and less earmarking of funds to enhance flexibility;
3. Suggests the provision of emergency services including food and emergency shelter, health and nutrition, education, legal assistance and basic services to new arrivals;

4. Further demands protection monitoring support to be scaled up in border areas and at key strategic points along the displacement route;

5. Urges the setting up of a community-based approach that can be applied in junction with specialized case management to ensure access to education and social services and protection to the best interests of the children affected by displacement;

6. Reminds that workshops should be organized to advise governments to include refugees in national and local government programs, enhancing partnership in rule of law, human rights, access to justice, community security and local governance and carrying out analytical work on specific protracted displacement situations;

7. Expresses its hope that help will be obtained from the International Monitoring Fund and world bank to have the required infrastructure in order to be in a better position to accommodate more refugees;

8. Proclaims that it is essential that, more countries affected by internal displacement, report on their achievements to support refugees and to ensure that others learn from their experience;

9. Further recommends the development of comprehensive multi sectorial public policies on refugees and creating coordinating mechanisms between relevant Ministries or Departments and UNHCR to ensure responsiveness to the needs of the refugees;

10. Encourages the communication between refugees and humanitarian personnel;

11. Affirms that host communities require support to cope with increased pressure from arrivals which includes particularly support in terms of livelihoods, access to basic services, and housing due to increased demand as well as support to educational and health activities;
12. Declares accordingly that for better assistance to refugees, it is essential that stakeholders gather and evaluate their practices, helping to develop evidence-based approach that can feed into strategies to better assist refugees;

13. Calls upon the use of technology such as drone surveillance to be able to alert host countries of mass refugees to allow governments to ensure proper and smooth implementation of response plans.
